Moshe Sharett (1894-1965), Israel statesman and Zionist leader, Israel's first foreign minister; successor to Ben prime minister.

Autograph Letter Signed ("M.S." in Hebrew), Jerusalem, 25 September 1964. 8vo., 1p., (letter in English), to "Ivor," about his expression of "that kind of friendship which I hold to be the highest reward in life" and refers to a unidentified ceremony, probably in his honor. Sharett passed away the next year.

Sharett was active in achieving the majority needed in the United Nations for the acceptance of the Palestine Pa
